

1111 West Bonanza Road ♦ Las Vegas, Nevada 89106
T (702) 387-5260 ♦ F (702) 387-2997
W stephenspress.com ♦ E info@stephenspress.com

CONTACT: Krissy Hawkins
khawkins@stephenspress.com

“I would buy this book in a New York minute.”

– Donald J. Trump

WHAT HAPPENED IN VEGAS . . . IS IN THE BOOK!

VEGAS CONFIDENTIAL: SINSATIONAL CELEBRITY TALES launched on November 12, 2008 with a posh party hosted by the Playboy Club atop the Palms in Las Vegas. Celebrities, VIPs and media joined Las Vegas ace insider Norm Clarke to celebrate the publication of his newest book.

SINSATIONAL delves into Sin City's hottest decade of celebrity mischief, plus the naughty, the nice, and Hall of Fame cheapskates.

The Las Vegas Review-Journal's award-winning columnist Norm Clarke, after years at the epicenter of Vegas' sizzling celebrity scene writing his widely read “Vegas Confidential” column has penned a book that focuses on one of the wildest eras in the entertainment capital of the world.

“When I misbehave in Las Vegas I know Norm will report it, but he’s always fair. Or maybe he’s just jealous.”

– Hugh Hefner, Founder, Playboy

The eye-patched celebrity columnist, who writes six columns a week and covers breaking news 24-7 at NormClarke.com, has been at the forefront of celebrity news and it's all in Vegas Confidential: Sinsational Celebrity Tales.

The only Las Vegas writer featured on the DrudgeReport.com, some of Norm's biggest world exclusives owe a nod to Nebraska. Including Britney Spears' hiccup of a first wedding which all started with an anonymous tip from a Nebraska phone number. And it was while in Lincoln that Norm broke the story of Michael Jackson's self exile-ending move to Las Vegas on Christmas Eve.

“Keep writing that (bleep) and I'll punch out your (bleeping) headlights.”

– Pete Rose

Norm's 2004 Vegas Confidential: 1,000 Naked Truths was the ultimate insider guide to Sin City, featuring 100 Top Ten lists. But it's probably best known for the incident it created after Pete Rose read his name among the worst tippers. A livid Rose bitch-slapped Norm in front of Internet news guru Matt Drudge at the Palms' N9NE Steakhouse.

It's gets better: New England Patriots quarterback Tom Brady arrived at the table a half-minute later and asked, "Pete Rose just slapped you?!"

A day after the account appeared in "Vegas Confidential", a former colleague from Denver called with congratulations. "For what?" asked Clarke. "You're in the Hall of Fame. You gave up Pete Rose's last hit."

And yes, Rose makes a Re-Pete appearance in Sinsational Celebrity Tales.

"Don't ever write another word about me, or you'll need an eye patch over your other eye."

- Criss Angel

Also in the book: Norm's run-ins with Jerry Lewis, illusionist Criss Angel, magician Penn Jillette and Hall of Fame pitcher Tom Seaver, who flattened the then-sportswriter with a motorcycle. Read why he got 86'd from the MGM Grand and Hard Rock Hotel and the retraction he regrets.

"All I know is, if it wasn't in Norm's column, it probably didn't happen."

- Rick Reilly, Columnist, Sports Illustrated

Along with the hard-hitting chapters about infamous meltdowns, classic sightings, and over 200 color celebrity photos, there's the "Class Acts," with Andre Agassi, Miley Cyrus, Al Jarreau and "Smokey" Robinson leading the way.

"Norm knows Vegas. Even though he only has one eye, he sees everything."

- Rita Rudner, Comedian

Vegas Confidential: Sinsational Celebrity Tales

www.SinsationalCelebrityTales.com

Stephens Press ~ November 2008

Distributed by Midpoint Trade Books, New York

Trade Paper ~ $15.95

ISBN 978-1-932173-773

5.5 x 7.5 ~ 232 pages

Available at www.sinsationalcelebritytales.com, retail bookstores and online book retailers.

To schedule interviews or to book the author for a speaking event or signing, contact the publisher at 702.387.5260 or info@stephenspress.com.
